You often hear that "school days are your happiest days," and therefore, they may be among your most pleasant memories. We hope that we have created a yearbook that will prompt you to wander back and to enjoy once again your school days at Rising Sun High.

Dedication

We, the class of 1963, dedicate THE RAY to Mr. Raymond Shingler and Mr. Harry Ernst. Their willingness to understand us and their ability to make us understand have given us a firm foundation on which to build our future. For this, we are sincerely grateful.

Principal's Message

Dear Seniors:

Is the story of man a record of changes? After early man shaped stone to serve him as weapons and tools, his span of life lengthened. In time the Stone Age crumbled to the onslaught of iron, and this progression continued through bronze, steel, and alloys. Current years have often been called the age of automation. Today, many machines are directed by other machines.

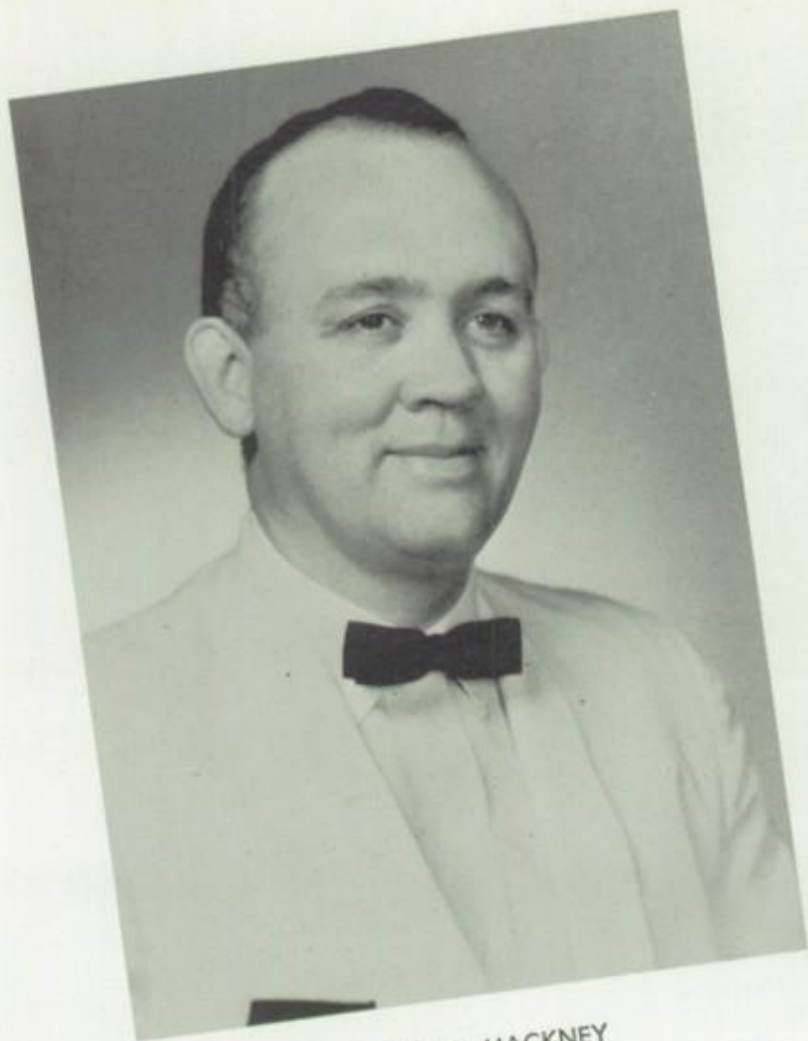

Through the ages man added to his one-man power by harnessing the energy of wind, fire, water, animals, other men, steam, electricity, and the split atom. He visited further than he could comfortably walk by using animals, boats, sails and motors. He stretched his community beyond the isolated tribe and ventured further from shore. Man circumnavigated his native planet and began to investigate what is at the north and the south poles, under the seas, and beyond the earth's blanket of atmosphere. Some of the labels used to mark past ages (such as discovery, exploration, colonization, expansion, nationalism, and internationalism) may again become appropriate in this the space age.

Not only has man extended his known world through the ages, but he has also extended his powers to know the world. He can see further with a telescope and television, move faster in a spaceship, hear further with a telephone and radio, and remember longer with the aid of a camera and a book.

Occasionally some elderly person questions whether or not everything new is progress, but old and young would seem to agree that changes have occurred. It does seem, however, that the changes may have been slower among the Ancient Greeks, Egyptians, Middle Age Serfs, or American Indians, but as a rolling snowball grows increasingly larger, the changes through the ages seem to have become more noticeable. Colonel Glenn's glorious orbits around our earth in 1961 were doubled in 1962 by Commander Schirra. In contrast, Magellan's circumnavigation of the globe was not so soon doubled.

As graduating seniors of 1963, you have been educated to anticipate changes. A democracy lives because each generation is taught not only the heritage from the past but also the ability to continue learning. New alumni become much more responsible for the continuation of their learning. We, the faculty, see you enter the space age as able manipulators of your ship. We will stand by tuned with interest for first-hand reports of your progress toward your desired destination.

JUAN CARLOS POZO-AQUILAR

Juan, our American Field Service Exchange Student, came to us in August from Santiago, Chile. He was born on October 24, 1944. His father, Diego Pozo-Carda, is a landscaper. His mother, Maria Aquilar-Mansilla, manages their home. His twenty-year-old brother, Diego Antonio, is studying agronomy at the university.

Juan comes from Liceo Experimental Manuel de Salas, a school of about 1250 students. It is made up of many buildings which house all the pupils from kindergarten to the twelfth grade. Juan is taking advanced courses in mathematics since he hopes to become an architect. When he returns home, he will begin his studies at the university.

Senior Note

At this time we wish to take the opportunity to express our sincere appreciation to our senior class advisors. They were always willing to take the time and trouble to guide and, sometimes, to correct us. "Thanks" is a small everyday word, but we use it now in its fullest meaning. Thank you, Mrs. Cameron, Mr. Heaton, and Mrs. Oram, for being our friends as well as our teachers.

Oops!

The penalty for being absent.

Too late to cram now.

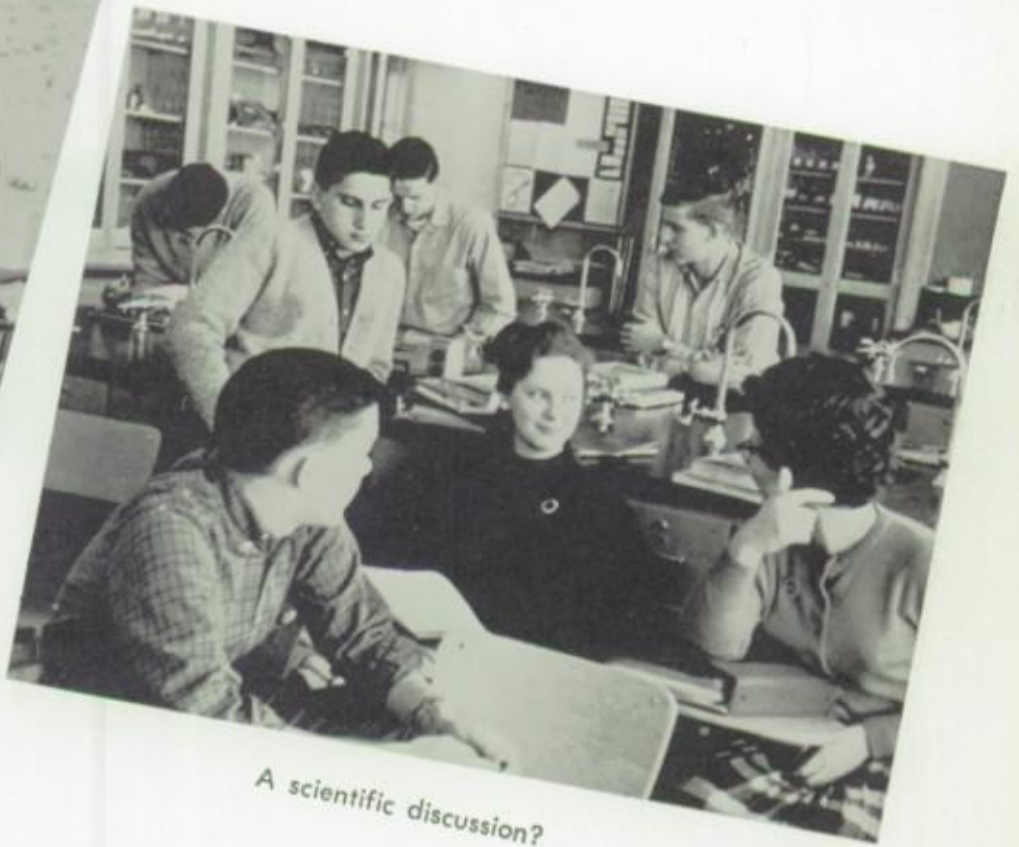

It's only nitroglycerin!

Morning Rush.

No! Really?

A scientific discussion?

Take five.

Sold out at last!

Aren't you boys a little old for toys?

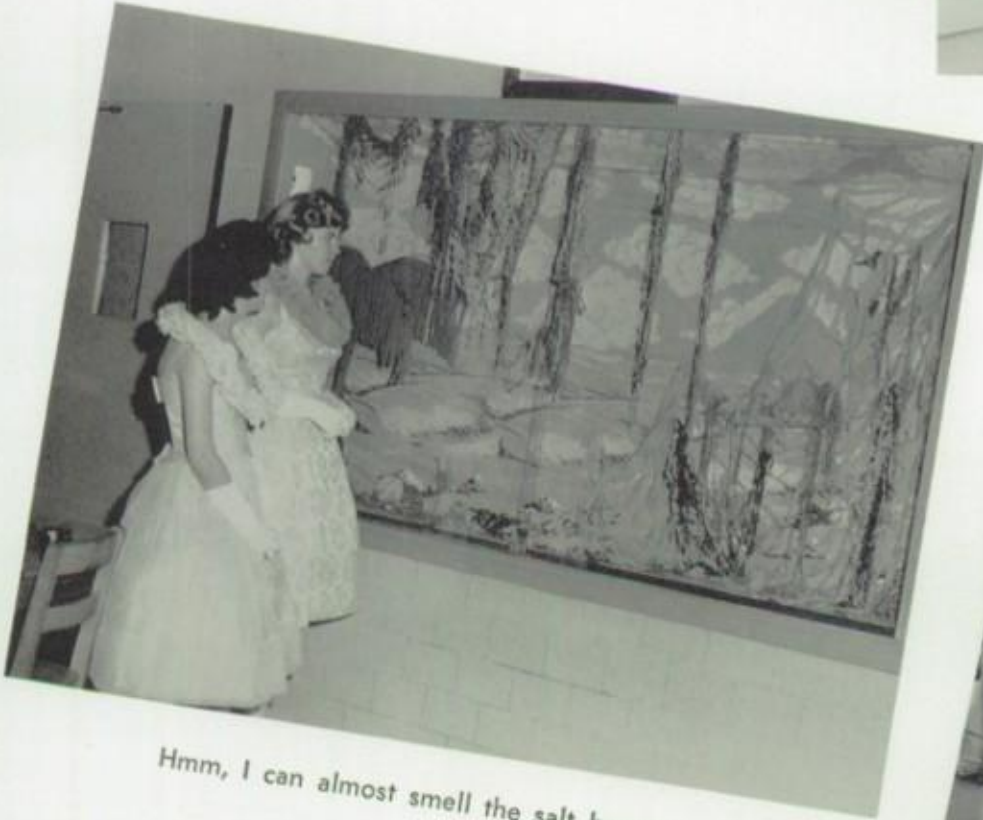

Gee! This looks good.

Oh! I just love tall boys.

Judgment day.

Hmm, I can almost smell the salt breeze.

Getting into the Christmas spirit.

School daze!

What's this? Twelve C's hobby show?

We serve on bended knee.

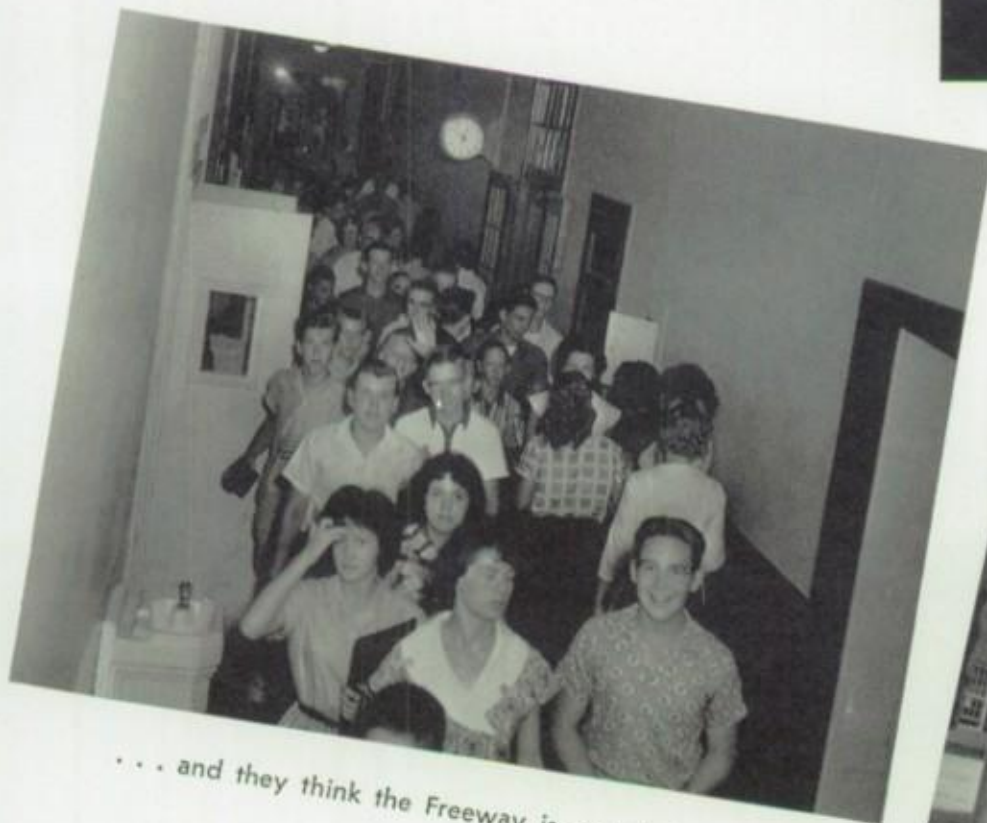

The twist, Hawaiian style.

Are we out of the red yet?

Smile, you're on Candid Camera.

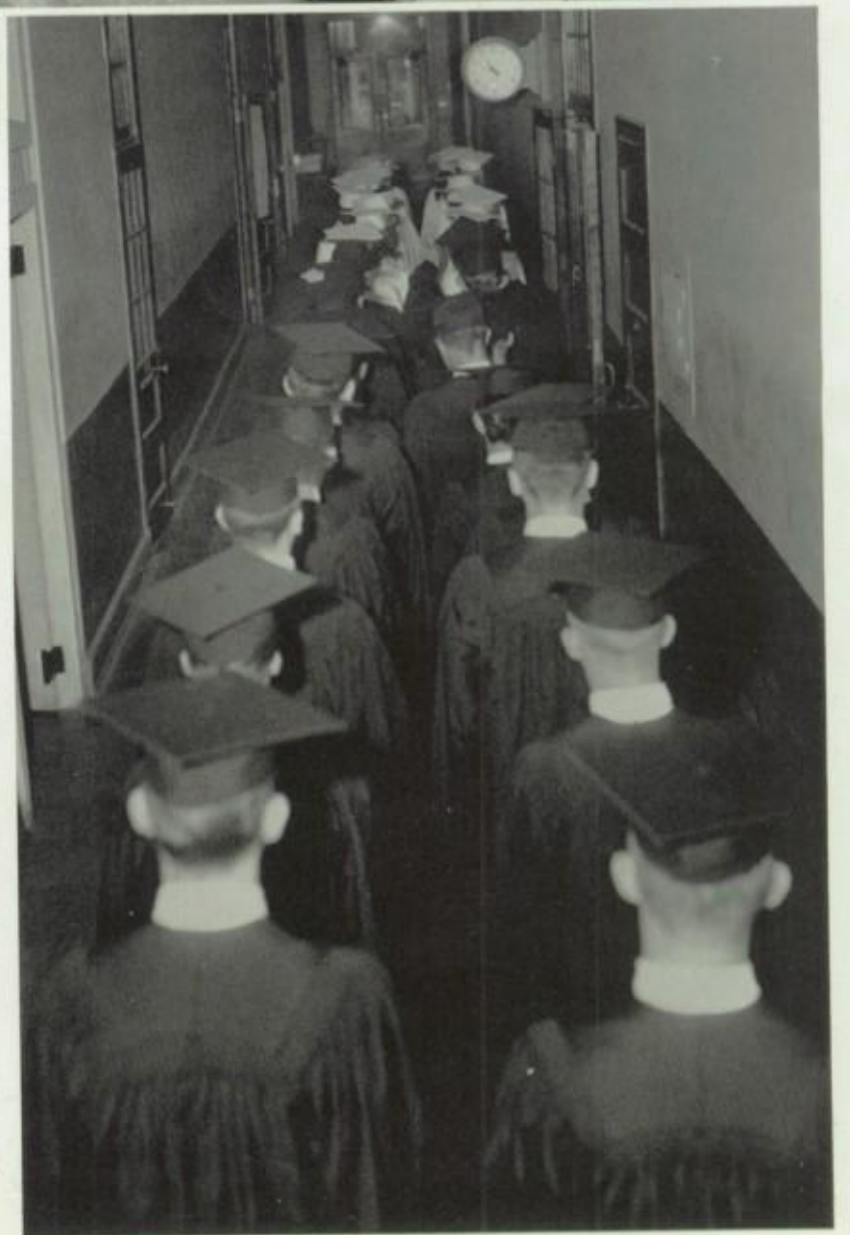

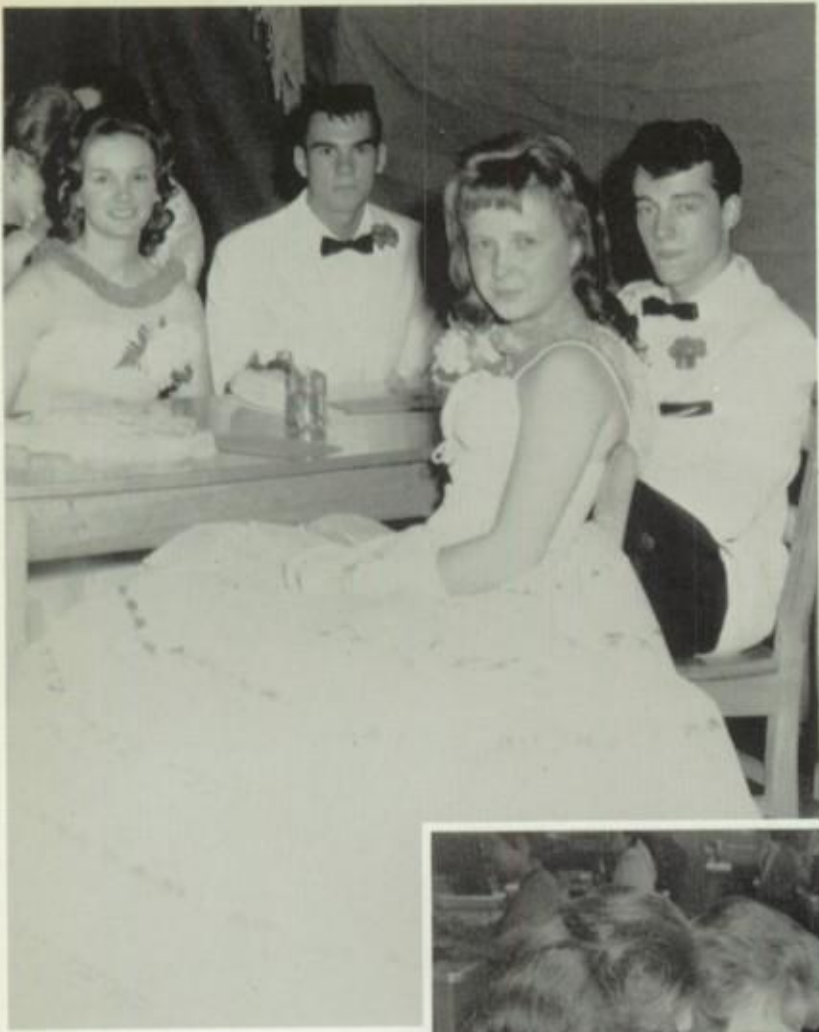

... and they think the Freeway is crowded.

The pause that refreshes.

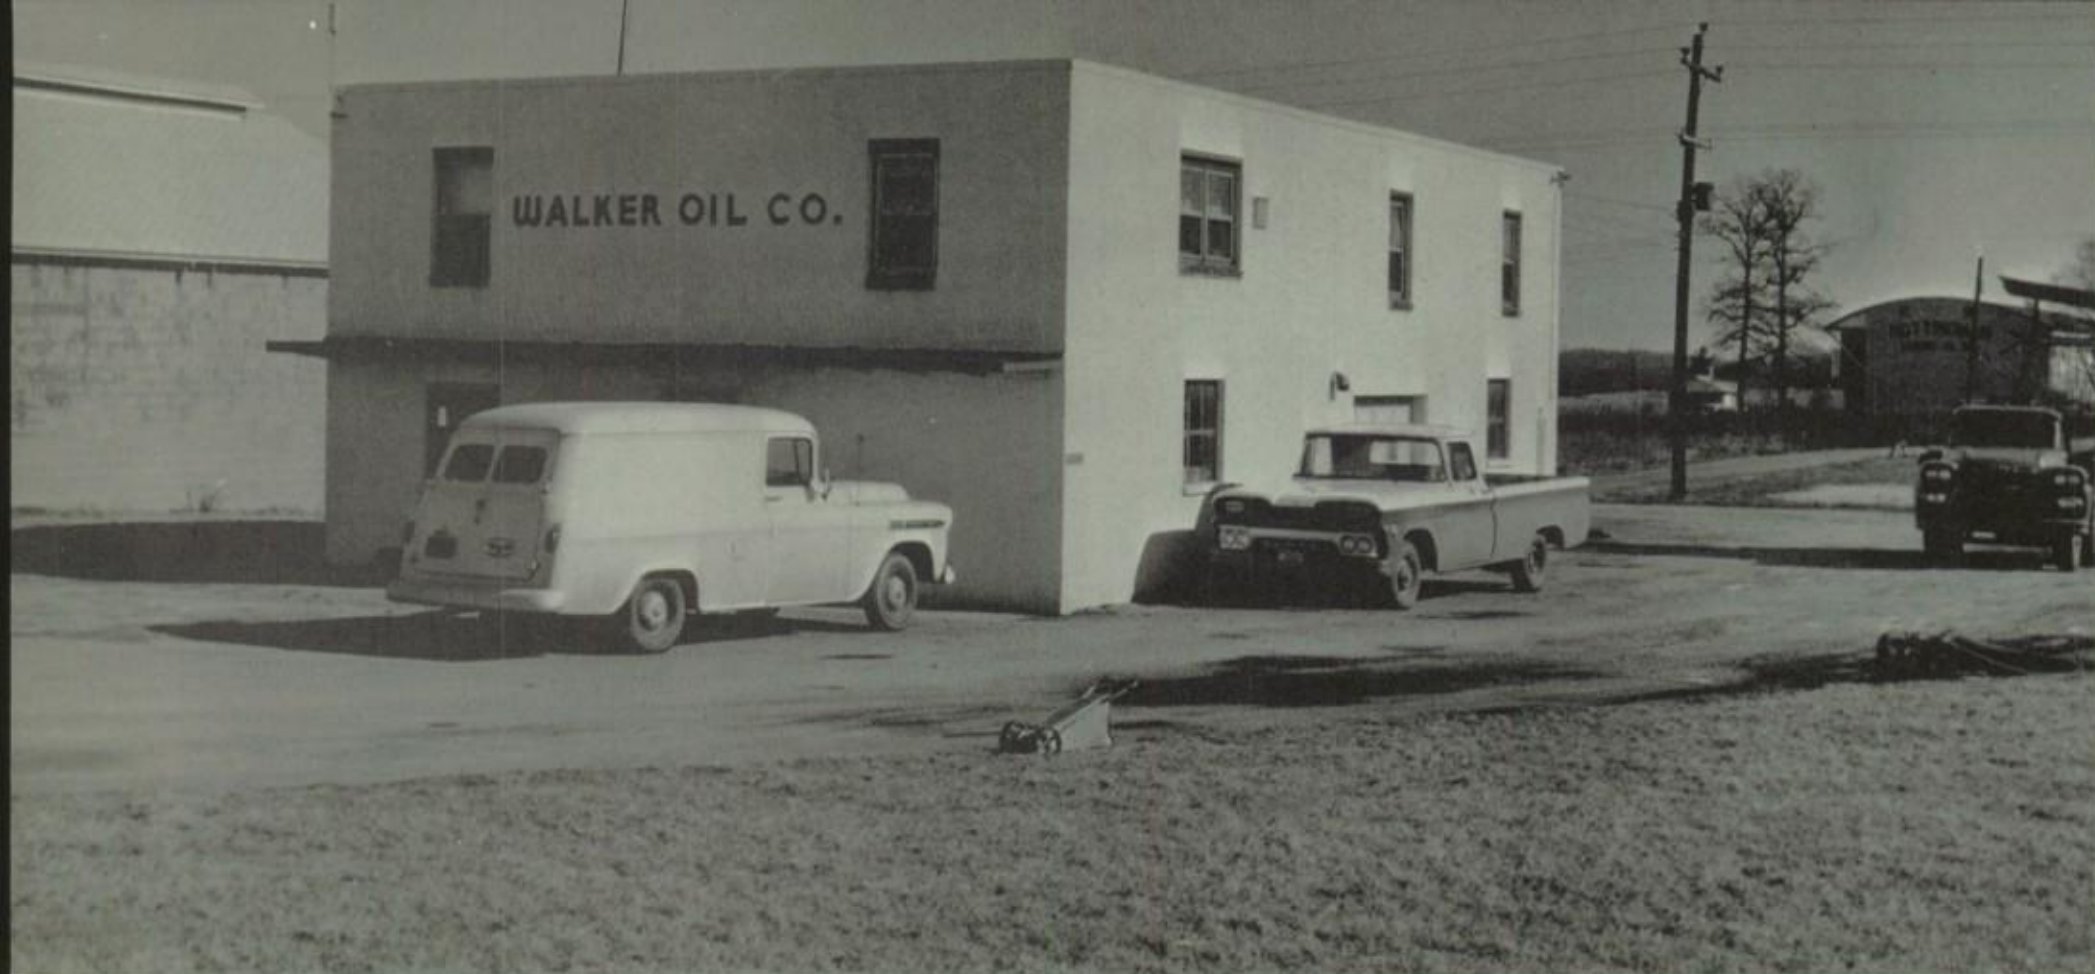

"Let us go hand in hand, not one before the other."
